The railroad officials said they would reply to the requests in a few istrative bureaus of the Government is imminent. The situation is such that President Harding will probably be called upon to adjudicate the matter. Several conferences in the office of Secretary of Labor Davis to-day were barren of result. Upon their conclusion the Secretary expressed a confident expectation that agreement would be reached to marriage. contended that road building so far as counties and municipalities were concerned, was at a practical standstill because of high freight rates. A return to former rates, they said, would revive construction.

After the conference on road building U. V. Norman of Louisville, Ky., counsel for the Southern Hardwood Traffic Association, told railroad vice-presidents in charge of traffic that the shipping of hardwood from the South had almost cessed and that it would not revive until rates were reduced. Representatives from the National Lumbermen's Association, North Carolina Pine Association and the California Redwood Association also urged a reduction in freight rates.

While flat increases in wages of railroad employees under Government control were large, expenditures of the roads on labor were increased even more rapidly by classification changes, J. G. Walber, labor expert for Eastern lines, testified before the Senate Investigating Committee. The number of employees at lowest rates was greatly reduced after general increases went into effect, he said, because men were transferred to higher classes by a zeries of wage board decisions.

Thomas Lynch, manager of Ceitic Park, the recreation grounds of the Irish American Athletic Association, was held in $1,000 ball vesterday in the Long Island City police court on a charge of having hidden in the park liquor which was seized by the police.

"Guess somebody was trying to play a foke on me," Lynch told the court. "Either that or they thought the police never would think of looking for whiskey at Ceitic Park, and so they selected that place to put away their private stock.
